Under no circumstances shall any person be allowed to sell goods of any description unless they bought privilege space.

20. COURTESY AND COOPERATION:

A word of explanation may not be out of place here. Please bear in mind that the officers, superintendents and committees of the Fair, with one or two exceptions, work without compensation, and to say the least, it is a thankless job. Too often they are unreasonably criticized for their actions. It is justly due them that you at least try to cooperate with them in every manner possible.

In case you feel that you have not received just what you thought you should have, you will find that by cooperating with the Fair officers, superintendents and committees everything will be more pleasant for all concerned.

The various officers, superintendents and committees are nearly all reasonable-thinking people and will meet you more than halfway on any proposition that may be brought to their attention.

THANK YOU FOR YOUR COOPERATION
